

Let's Plant a Garden

Tips for Parents and Caregivers

Here are ideas and activities to try this week with your child. Each activity is based on one of the 7 Days • 7 Ways principles of early literacy development and is designed to engage your child, stimulate his or her literacy skills, and enhance the bonds between you.

- 1. SHARE BOOKS Although board books are ideal for sharing with babies, try sharing some non-fiction (fact) books with more complex texts and beautiful pictures, too.
- 2. SHARE SOUNDS Many sounds can be heard in the garden: bunnies nibbling, animals scooting, crickets chirping, birds tweeting, and raindrops pitter-patting. Talk to your child about gardens and the different sounds he might hear there.
- 3. SHARE WORDS Look at flowers together, outdoors and in books, and say their actual names, colors, shapes, and any other details you can think of: red and pink roses that smell good, round white chrysanthemums with lots of petals, tall golden sunflowers. This will expose your baby to more unique vocabulary.
- 4. SHARE RHYMES Share rhymes from today's storytime and any other rhymes you know with garden themes (such as "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary"). Repeating rhymes over and over helps your baby learn them. When she can speak, she will easily join in!
- 5. SHARE SONGS Share the nature songs from today's storytime while taking a walk outside. Emphasize the syllables so that your baby can hear the smaller sounds in words.
- 6. SHARE STORIES Go on a nature observation walk, and make up stories about the plants and flowers that you see.
- 7. SHARE PLAYTIME Share the fun and excitement of planting grass or other seeds in a cup and watching them grow. Have your baby help plant the seeds and water them every day.
